PROJECTS

- PortFolio WebSite

Created a personal portfolio platform leveraging front-end technologies (HTML, CSS, JavaScript) to present academic details, skills, and projects in a professional format. Added scroll-based animations, transitions, and interactive elements to make the interface visually appealing. Added backend email integration using SMTP/Email API, enabling real-time visitor interaction.

- Book Management System

Developed a full-stack web application for managing books with features such as adding, editing, deleting, and viewing book details. Implemented the frontend using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript to ensure a responsive interface. Built the backend with Java, Spring Boot, and Hibernate, and integrated a MySQL database for storing records. Designed RESTful APIs to enable seamless communication between frontend and backend, ensuring smooth CRUD operations.

PUBLICATIONS

➤ Real Time Sign Language Translator: A Machine Learning Perspective and Reviews on International Journal of Research Publication Jun 2025

This paper explores a real-time Sign Language Translator using computer vision and machine learning. The system captures hand gestures through a webcam, processes them using a trained model, and translates signs into text on-screen, enabling seamless communication between hearing and non-hearing individuals.
